

The beach area in the architectural competition MORA Mora Municipality to participate in an architectural competition with beach campus as the race area. The cost to attend a contest area is 830 000 SEK. It is Sweden Architects ArkitektserviceAB / European, which organizes contest. This is an association of representatives of the architectural and construction sector in some twenty European countries. European competition looking for areas in Sweden which contains both plane problem and an interpretation task, with a program that allows a mix of housing, services and workplaces, public spaces, traffic and environment in the contemporary urban environment. Two to three areas will be charged in Sweden for the competition. Beach school district has previously been an issue for the construction of a evenemangshalldär Vasaloppet would be one of the ingredients. The plans are now scrapped, and the proposal was that the area would host a new culture center with a library. Kommunstyrelsentog decisions on architectural design competition at Tuesday's meeting and Alderman BengtÅke Rehn, EU, welcomes the fact that Mora municipality enters into the contest. - Although we may not be a complete proposal how the area should be used, I believe the work presented can give ideas that will be used. - We will still have time to invest this money and then it's good that someone from the opportunity to assess how the area can be used, "he says.