

One of the biggest investments ever in Kinda 26.08.2009 09:05 Kinda Municipality spends big money on to become a more attractive community. The municipality also invests big money against unemployment. Our newspaper was given a speech sound with Ake Almquist (M) and Sigvard Olsson (S), two heavy names in the local council.

Kinda Municipality will be well prepared when the recession turns and the municipality will become a more attractive community. it says two of the municipal solid reputation, Sigvard Olsson (S) and Ake Almquist (M). Last autumn, the municipality bought the station area in Kisa for one million kronor. Then they had no idea that a few months later would be an offer to be part of an architectural competition by architects from across Europe. - No, it was so that this year was Sweden's turn to be the European, which is one of the largest architectural competitions. Four municipalities said yes to the contest, but a municipality pulled out at the last minute and we then received a request to be part of the municipality and said yes, "says Ake Almquist. The cost of port - After purchase of the station area was cut and dried it also meant that the municipality received rental income of 250 000 SEK and bearing in mind that the architectural competition, which cost 830 000 SEK is three years so the cost of the port in just over three years, "says Sigvard Olsson. In the spring were more young (under 40) designers from Sweden and other European countries and looked at its properties around the station area and last week was hit with architects and people from the Municipality Kinda, Lerum, Mora and Östhammar in Stockholm. - In total, there were nearly 100 architectural proposal in terms of the four municipalities. For Kisas some are 33 suggestions on how the station area could look like in the future, "says Ake Almquist.