

Suggested Källörhotell displayed 33 architectural proposals on how Källörsområdet in Östhammar be transformed into a modern hotel and conference center with spa and restaurant, a month ahead of the old Källörskolan. One of the proposals preserve Källörsskolans building. The proposals vary, and displays a width of a wide variety of architectural solutions from a more traditional construction of sheer imagination and future creations. There are many architectural wonders. On Saturday, opened the show with all the architectural proposals. Nobody, not even city architect Ingemar Lönngrén, floor manager Christian Blomberg and Building Committee Chairman Gunilla Delwall (m), know what or who is an architect or from which European country, the authors come from. The proposals are only marked with a letter and number combination. The number of buildings varies from one to five of the 33 proposals. Some ideas are building out into the water, are built close to the shoreline or take advantage of the environment and landscape in the architectural portrayal. - Some building on the town square and line system, a road is extended, for example with a building out over the water, "says Christian Blomberg. Some of the conditions is that the architects had to sketch out a hotel, a conference center, a spa and a restaurant. The proposals vary the number of hotel rooms between 50 and 64. - We have also defended the promenade will be maintained. The buildings are placed next to the water, or out in the water, have different solutions on how you can walk along the beach. Someone has built footbridges on rooftops or made small tunnels under the houses on the land, "says Christian Blomberg. The issue of a hotel or other public buildings in the area around Källörsskolan has been supported and wet for several decades. As recently as a few years ago launched Östhammar municipality an architectural competition for a culture in place. Gunilla Delwall which followed developments in Östhammar believe and hope that the city can now finally implement a building with the proposal that wins the design competition for hotel, conference, spa and restaurant. The public was attracted to the exhibition. A stream pilgrimage to Källörsskolan and comments varied. - We are concerned that the promenade will be difficult, "says Carin Blomquist and Birgitta Kapla, but promises Christian Blomberg that the promenade should be safeguarded. Ebba Karlsson and Olivia Falk has gone on Källörsskolan and think it's good that something happens on the field, but wonder how any new buildings should fit. Agneta Wino and Yasmin Holmgren thinks it is time to build something on Källörsområdet and think that the proposals are exciting. Gunilla Delwall, Ingemar Lönngrén and Christian Blomberg affirms that what is built will be built after Östhammar own merits and should blend in with environment and landscape.
